Come With Me – I Know The Way (With ACIM)

Emotional And Even Physical Toxicity Is Released!

Would you be willing to lay the body down upon the altar of the Heart, to surrender it back to the Source of your Creation, and to hold the thought, “You know, I really never have known what this thing is or what it’s for. I pamper it, I feed it, I do what I think is going to get me some pleasure through it, I clothe it in the winter and I un-clothe it in the hot heat of the summer. But I’ve never known how to truly use it, how to bring peace to the cells of the body, how to allow an integration of the body, the emotions and the mind. Perhaps there’s another way of looking at the body itself.” And there is. (CD - GR1)

The body will reflect for you always the choice you are making between Love and fear, between joining and separating, between forgiveness and judgment. Know that experience where you walk into a room of perfect strangers and something somewhere in the room just doesn’t feel very good? That you’re picking up a little vibration, and you turn around and there’s someone standing on the other side of the room. You’ve never laid your physical eyes on them, but somehow you know that you’d just as soon avoid them. Have you had that kind of experience? Feeling the energy of someone and feeling repelled by it somehow? They haven’t said a word; they haven’t looked at you yet. But there’s a knowingness. Remember, you never look upon a stranger.

And have you not also had the experience of being around someone who seems to radiate Light so much that no matter what’s going on, just to think about them seems to enlighten your spirit – to bring you a sense of joy. And when you lay your physical eyes upon them, somehow the weight of your daily life is suspended, and you feel joy. Have you had that experience?

To the degree that one’s mind has become corrected, so that the body is not used to house old judgments, and old fears, and old angers, and it is not used to look upon other bodies as something perhaps that they have something that this body can gain. But as correction comes to the mind, and the mind becomes enlightened, so too must the body follow. The cells of the body begin to vibrate in a different way. Emotional and even physical toxicity is released.

The body becomes clearer and clearer and clearer. It becomes a vehicle that radiates Light to various degrees. And that is what you’re feeling. What you’re feeling through the body of that one is really the reflection of what has occurred in the mind. And the body of one who, shall we say, is what you might call a master is simply the body that has become so perfected that it becomes as Light, because there’s no trace in the mind left of judgment or fear or doubt. There is only the unconditional Love that God is.

“For Christ’s Sake!
My God, This Isn’t Just My Friend, Christ Is In Front of Me!”

You’ve allowed correction to come back to your mind, you’ve thought honestly to what’s really going on. And that’s good because you can’t turn from what you fail to embrace. It goes on and on and on forever. And the other thing that happens is this: You’ve relinquished the pattern or the energy in the mind. You’ve laid it out on the table; you’re not hiding anything. You’ve made yourself vulnerable. And now something very special can happen. Because you have provided your brother or sister with exactly what they’re looking for – whether they know it or not – the opportunity to join with you in Holy Relationship. For you have extended unto them the opportunity to give forgiveness, to relinquish any feelings of judgments or resentments because, remember, they were already full anyway. To set it all aside, to smile, to join with you. It becomes the sacred temple in which the Holy Children of God join together and look innocently upon one another, and laugh at the ego.

And perhaps you extend your hands to one another, and you clasp your hands, and you look into their eyes. And suddenly, the very energy that was going on in you, that seemed to compel you into the whole series of events that got you and your friend to this moment, that conflict dissolves. What’s occurred? A miracle has occurred. A miracle of a Holy Instant that corrects all things. And you realize that your brother and your sister is, indeed, the means to your salvation. And in each moment that you are willing to set aside the masks, the ideas of yourself, the fears, the judgments, all the momentums of the mind trying to find its own way in this work – and just lay it at their altar – join with them and see only Love, to become wholly vulnerable. You begin to see that, “My God, this isn’t just my friend, Christ is in front of me. For Christ’s sake!”

And you see in that moment, the miracle of the Atonement has occurred. You have been lifted out of the perceptions of the world, and a very ordinary occurrence has become extraordinary and blessed forever. You have joined with your friend in a way that no physical intimacy has ever gotten anybody. And all it took was the willingness to look through the eyes of Christ. The willingness to be vulnerable, to set aside all perceptions and judgments, to just be straight and honest, is very much like saying, “You know, I keep having to face the fact that I don’t know who I am or what the world is for.” And your friend says, “Oh, thank God. I can relax now. ‘Cause you see, I don’t know, either.”

And then you can join together. And you can ask, in your momentary prayer – if you don’t quite have the courage to be outrageous yet; you’ll just sit there, quietly looking at each other – you’ll simply ask of Holy Spirit to bring that correction to the mind, so that it becomes more firmly established. And in this way, almost unbeknownst to you, miracles come to replace the struggle and the strife of life. You become very, very humble because you realize none of your perceptions have ever been true or accurate, except the ones inspired by the gentleness of Love that is totally inclusive of all of life and embraces unconditionally everyone and everything.

In that moment – and you’ve all experienced at least a few of those moments – peace comes. Peace. A peace that passes our understanding and could never hope to be explained in the languages of this world. And that peace bespeaks a way of living that is available to everyone at all times – a way of living that requires no planning in the way the world would think of this. No striving, no doubt, no anxiety. A way of living that flows gently, in which you smile a little bit more often, in which you talk a little bit less. A way of living that is marked by Grace.

And Grace that is lived will reveal to you your True Reality. Grace, when fully lived, reveals to you that you are the only begotten of God, Christ Eternal, unbounded forever. And that you participate in that Mind and that energy and that Love – call it what you will – with me and with every mind, every brother and sister who has ever chosen to set aside the world, and to allow the Kingdom to be lived from within.

I’ve Said Before, There’s Really Only One Curriculum That Anybody Ever Needs To Learn!

You are the one in whom the Father remains well pleased. You are the one. You are the one who has come forth into this time frame, just as I came forth into a different one, for only one purpose: to demonstrate the Truth that the world is not real and holds no power over God’s Creation. That the world would try to get you to judge, try to get you to hold onto ideas and beliefs about what is and what should be and what shouldn’t be and what ought never have been – all of that stuff. The world will try to get you to believe that judgment is justified, that forgiveness must be given cautiously. Hmm, it is not forgiveness when it’s given cautiously. Grace is the Truth that will completely reverse the ideas that you have had in the mind, and bring correction completely unto you. It cannot be earned. You cannot strive for it. You can only be willing to allow it – to allow it.

I’ve said before, there’s really only one curriculum that anybody ever needs to learn and, quite frankly, you don’t have the freedom to decide not to learn it. You do have the freedom, and this is the freedom given unto you since before time is, you have the perfect freedom to decide when to learn it. Does that make sense to you? “Well, not today, Father. You see, I have this gripe to pick with my brother. I’ll get back to the curriculum tomorrow.” And the Holy Spirit stands just on the other side and goes, “Oh, I thought you wanted to learn the curriculum, so I helped set up this whole affair so that you could extend Love to your brother with whom you think you have a gripe. Oh, well, I’ll just bring another one.” Do you know that experience? “Something is repeating in my life. What is going on here?”

This is a course in miracles. It is a required course. Only the time you take it is voluntary. Free will does not mean that you can establish the curriculum. It means only that you can elect what you want to take at a given time. (ACIM Intro)

What have you not brought forgiveness to? What fear do you still hold onto? What judgment or perception are you unwilling to let go of, so that correction can come and you can be taught anew? Ah, the curriculum: I and my Father are one. The Kingdom of Heaven is within. That which is Real cannot be threatened, and that which is unreal does not exist. The ego, which is my drama that I've been playing out and out and out is nothing more than an illusory thought. It is like a gnat floating in the vastness of space. It holds no power, no function, and no reality. But each time I listen to its voice, I have left the Kingdom – that fast.

This course can therefore be summed up very simply in this way:

Nothing Real can be threatened.

Nothing unreal exists.

Herein lies the peace of God. (ACIM Intro)

And so the only curriculum, you see, is to choose to hear the Voice for Love – to be the vehicle of forgiveness. The curriculum ends where the dream of separation began – as a thought. Now, think about this: as a thought held in the mind of the Son of God. One thought: what would it be like to experience myself as separate from my Father? Voila! The world. Hmm. And you thought you had no power to create.

.....

If You Believe That There Are Demons Out There That Can Get You,
You Are Empowering That Thought To Continue, Because All Minds Are Joined!

It is only Love that restores the Son to his rightful place. It is only Love that corrects the misperception of separation. It is only Love that corrects the uses of the body. When you look upon this world and you see mirrored to you what could be called ego, let's just call the ego as the perception of separation from God. When you look upon it in any of its aspects – when you look at, what was the one...Saddam, hmm? Now there's an aspect of ego. No sense denying it – when you look upon it with judgment, you have only ensured that it will continue. And you are all quite free and quite capable of thinking up a million other examples of expressions of the ego – minds living in separation. If you are really honest, I'm sure you can look inside yourself and come up with a few examples.

"I am not alone in experiencing the effects of my thoughts." I am alone in nothing. Everything I think or say or do teaches all the universe. A Son of God cannot think or speak or act in vain. He cannot be alone in anything. It is therefore in my power to change every mind along with mine, for mine is the power of God. "I am determined to see." Recognizing the shared nature of my thoughts, I am determined to see. I would look upon the witnesses that show me the thinking of the world has been changed. I would behold the proof that what has been done through me has enabled Love to replace fear, laughter to replace tears, and abundance to replace loss. I would look upon the Real World, and let it teach me that my will and the Will of God are one. (ACIM WL 54)

Love alone heals. And the way the ego, the way the dream begins to dissolve is through the relinquishing of the power that you have given unto it. And when you look upon Saddam (or anyone) and feel angry with him, when you feel fear at what tyrants seem to be causing in the world, you have just decided to take it seriously. And you believe that something in the field of ego – in my day it was called the Evil One – you believe that there are demons out there that can get you. And you are empowering them to continue, because all minds are joined. You have told them that their experience is real. Love heals, and Love is extended through forgiveness to the choice the mind makes to look past appearances and to see only the Light that shines there, waiting to be remembered and restored to the one before you.

Now, that sounds like a nice, lofty thought, but is it true? I once chose as a man, not because I was ordered by God. God doesn't order anyone to do anything. I chose to bring upon myself a demonstration that death is unreal, as a way of teaching my brothers and sisters that if you think of the most extreme circumstance you can, the opportunity to choose Love is always available. Rest assured that I know perfectly well that even if a tyrant ordered someone to strap you to a heavy wooden beam and to pound nails into your hands and feet, the power within you to choose Love has not been taken from you in any stretch of the imagination. And paradoxically, in the midst of even your most painful circumstances, when you make a choice to allow Love to descend first into your own being, so that it can radiate out to everyone else concerned, you will feel the nails as though they were being withdrawn from your hands and feet. All of you know what it is like to be crucified in some way or another. All of you have felt that. All of you have had glimpses of the power of forgiveness and Love. When you just relinquish your beliefs, your anger, everything about a situation that comes, peace comes back. There have been times in some of your lives when some rather dramatic things have happened and it's got your kettle boiling. And all of a sudden you said, "Oh, the heck with it." And you changed your attitude, and you actually laughed. What happened? You used the power of choice given unto you to remember the Truth.

If You've Chosen To Set Aside Learning The Curriculum, You've Taken A Detour!

Correction comes with relinquishing the world. Relinquishing the world does not have anything to do with living in caves. It has everything to do with relinquishing your perceptions of what the world is for, and allowing it just to be as it is, while you focus on choosing peace, so that you become the center of Light that seems to walk around in a body. Do you know what begins to happen when you do that? You will, quite literally, open up what could be called an "inner eye." And perception will be healed, and it feels like a very literal physical shift. You are taken away, if you will, from identifying as the body, and you literally see the body for what it is – a nothing. A momentary device through which the Light of Christ can extend Love. It's not even yours any more. Yes, you'll continue to feed it, do little things you need to do so that it can function, as long as it lasts. But something quite literally shifts. It's not you any longer. And you look upon your relationships and upon your careers, and they'll all be different. The world will have been swept clean from your mind. It will be replaced by the perception that you're the Holy Son of God, and you're here for a very short time.

And each opportunity, each moment, is given unto you because the world is crying out for your blessings. Not the ego's blessings: "Yes, I bless you, my child." The world cries out for the blessings that you can extend to it by choosing peace, and by smiling at the ego and the ways of the world. By being the demonstration that there is another choice, another way, another path.

Grace. Does Grace set the mind and the Heart free? Oh, yes. It has already done so. Salvation has already been completed. And the Son is already restored. And time becomes translated. It becomes translated from your insane attempt to seek the happiness, the union with God. It becomes translated into the gentle explanation, if you will, the gentle demonstration, that peace has been restored to you. And how do you know? Each time you extend peace to another, you must then understand that peace must have already been restored to you, for you cannot give what you do not possess. And so by giving, we receive.

I learned, just as each and every one of you are learning, to give all that you have received by Grace, and when you know that you are giving all, you will know that you have received all, and you will know that your Redeemer has awakened and arisen with you. Right where you are, Heaven is. For Heaven is not a place, and it is not a condition. Heaven is the Real world in which the Son abides eternally with all that God is, and God is but Love.

The Holy Spirit, Who leads to God, translates communication into being, just as He ultimately translates perception into knowledge. You do not lose what you communicate. The ego uses the body for attack, for pleasure and for pride. The insanity of this perception makes it a fearful one indeed. The Holy Spirit sees the body only as a means of communication, and because communicating is sharing it becomes communion. Perhaps you think that fear as well as Love can be communicated; and therefore can be shared. Yet this is not so real as it may appear. Those who communicate fear are promoting attack, and attack always breaks communication, making it impossible. Egos do join together in temporary allegiance, but always for what each one can get separately. The Holy Spirit communicates only what each one can give to all. He never takes anything back, because He wants you to keep it. Therefore, His teaching begins with the lesson:

"To have, give all to all."

This is a very preliminary step, and the only one you must take for yourself. It is not even necessary that you complete the step yourself, but it is necessary that you turn in that direction. Having chosen to go that way, you place yourself in charge of the journey, where you and only you must remain. This step may appear to exacerbate conflict rather than resolve it, because it is the beginning step in reversing your perception and turning it right-side up. This conflicts with the upside-down perception you have not yet abandoned, or the change in direction would not have been necessary. Some remain at this step for a long time, experiencing very acute conflict. At this point they may try to accept the conflict, rather than take the next step toward its resolution. Having taken the first step, however, they will be helped. Once they have chosen what they cannot complete alone, they are no longer alone. (ACIM T 105-106)

Grace. There is a choice that each mind, each soul in its journey, comes to. They have called this “coming to the threshold of the Kingdom.” How do you cross into it? Not by accepting me as your Savior, though I would be honored if you accepted me as your friend and your brother, who would walk with you to God. Frankly, because I see no point in walking any other place. Each of you have come to the threshold of the Kingdom of Heaven a million times – a million times. If you’ve chosen to set aside learning the curriculum, you’ve taken a detour.

There Has Never Been Any Other Way!!!

The way that the threshold is crossed is by laying aside your perception of yourself as a separate one who is seeking God, along with every other perception of yourself you’ve ever held, in which you become finally willing to acknowledge that you have found. Think about it. To acknowledge in your own mind: “No, no more games. I know the Truth. I am the Son of God. I am, therefore, here only for the extension of Love, and the world’s gains mean nothing.” Think what it would mean to acknowledge that within yourself. “My God, I have set up a drama so that I can pretend to be a seeker again and again and again, so that I can avoid finding.” And some of you like the game. That’s okay. It’s nothing wrong with liking it. And I hope you enjoy it.

But in the end, seeking becomes like a weight upon the Heart, and the soul in its weariness drops to its metaphorical knees, because obviously it doesn’t have any. And it just says, “I’m tired.” And it sets aside the weight of the world, and the Light begins to be remembered. The echo of an ancient melody, at once so familiar, that seemed to be forgotten, begins to arise in the soul that has relinquished the world and returned to silence. And the thought comes to replace the one thought of separation, for upon it all worlds have been built, and all subsequent thoughts and dramas are nothing more than expressions of that one thought of separation. And an inner Voice speaks these words: “You are My beloved Son, in whom I remain well pleased. Arise, for you are Christ.”

And then, perception is healed, and for the first time a major shift has occurred in your mind, and you know that it’s time. And before the altar of God that rests in the silent sanctuary of your Heart, you have the audacity, in the eyes of the world, to finally exclaim the truth: “I and my Father are one. By myself I’ve never done anything, but now, through me, my Father will do all things. I am home, and I am at peace. Truth is restored. And I will go out no more from this Holy place, for the Light of day has come and all darkness is vanquished. I and my Father are one. And it’s never been any other way.”

Does that bring responsibility as long as you seem to live in time? Of course, it does. It is a responsibility that the world has taught you not to take on. The world has actually taught you that I’m the only one who had the strength to assume that responsibility. Now, isn’t that a clever device of separation? All power is given unto you as the Holy Son of God. All power under Heaven and Earth to hear only the Voice for Love. It’s a delightful Voice. It speaks gently, and it shows you the humor of your illusions. And if you would hear only that Voice and acknowledge that you are one with God, that you’re not sent to suffer the world, to live in lack, to live in poverty, to judge the world.

You are sent to be a Light to the world, to show the world that its perceptions and beliefs don't cut it. To allow miracle-mindedness to descend upon you, so that miracles can be lived and extended through you, given unto your brothers and sisters who have been given unto you, that they might look upon the Face of Christ and remember that they see only themselves.

Would you choose, then, to allow this hour to be the point at which you decide to learn the curriculum? Right here and right now, in your own beingness, to say, "Okay. What the heck. I know I've got a few perceptions that seem to be blocking me from peace. I've held onto them for a long time. They haven't gotten me there yet. What have I got to lose? Maybe I should just set them aside – and allow, allow correction to come to the mind – to trust the safety of the Heart's vulnerability, to become filled with humility. Of myself, I do nothing. I don't know what a single thing is, but thank God, my Father does. I don't even know what this situation is for, so I'm just going to be here as the presence of Love, trust, and allow it to unfold, knowing that there is one Teacher that has been given unto the world, the One that I've called the Comforter, who knows how to take everything that unfolds and weave it into the tapestry that awakens the Holy Son of God."

Here Alone, Is The Fulfillment Of All Prayers.
Here Alone, The Atonement Is Completed!

Look lovingly upon every experience you have, for there is a purpose to it. For you, as well as for others. And every experience is the opportunity, the blessing, to remember to choose Love. And in that choice, the conflict dissolves. In that moment, that moment is the Atonement. It's the moment that corrects the conflict that was set up in the beginning of time, in which you seem to have been cast from the Garden.

Can you begin to feel what I'm seeking to share with you, then, that you do not experience ordinary moments. There are no such things as ordinary moments, unless you forget they're extraordinary. That's what makes them ordinary: forgetting every moment why God is such a blessing.

To build on what I shared earlier, the third axiom or principle could be encapsulated in this way:

I do not live any ordinary moments.

With each breath, my experiences are the stepping stones laid before me of God to guide me home. I will bring awareness to each moment and allow it to teach me how to forgive, how to embrace, how to love and therefore how to live fully. (WM 31)

The one before you brings you your salvation, if you would but Love them instead of judge them. Ahh. If that doesn't bring Light to the world, what can? To see that it doesn't mean what the world thinks it means. It's a dance and an illusion. It's a tapestry woven by One who would but bring the peace of God back to your Heart. You don't go to school to get a career so you can have a job.

The soul is choosing to attract situations so that it can learn where it has failed to extend Love, and to live from unlimitedness. That's all.

“The Way of the Perfect Servant” is the highest and also the final expression that can be enacted within the field of space and time. Take upon yourselves that Holy cloak, for it is the only one that your Father has ever created for you. It is made of Light divine. It is unbounded and infinite. Here alone you will find and know the safety that you have prayed for. Here alone, the fulfillment of all prayers. Here alone, the Atonement is completed. And you will look and you will know and you will realize that no effort has been expended, no pain overcome and released, because you are already made whole from before your dream began. What else is there to do but to laugh and to rejoice and to go quietly, seemingly into every moment of time, knowing that time is not. For you abide in eternity and you are the Light of the Arisen Christ. (JT - HIO)

Come To Where I Am!

What I call you unto is to lay down the dream of the dreamer itself. And then you will have come to where I am and you will look for distinctions between us and see none. And you will have wholly come to recognize yourself as the only begotten Child of God, united in perfection with all that the Father is: the Holy Union of Father and Son embraced, the end of all journeys, the end of time. And there is naught but the splendor of perfect peace.

What I have described unto you awaits you, just the other side of a simple thought that you can release any moment you choose to. Choose it now, beloved Child of God, and join with me as the Light of the Arisen Christ, that the whole of creation might fulfill its purpose and be returned, perfected unto the Father.

I Love you. I have never forsaken you, nor will I. For how could I forsake myself? You are the one in whom your Father is eternally well pleased. Come, then, to where I am that we might again join in the divine remembrance of who we have always been. Lay down the dream of the dreamer. And if you would choose to wonder what might arise when that has been completed, then hear and know only this: seek first the Kingdom of heaven within you and all these things shall be added unto you.

That is the great ease with which the arisen Christ walks upon the path extended in front of him, made not of the world but extended from the Heart of God. Follow it with great joy and simplicity. Don the cloak prepared for you from before time is. Become as I am, the perfect servant of Light incomprehensible. There has never been anything else for you to do.

Would you not extend the Love with which your Father has always Loved you unto your brother or sister? For if you would choose to see a world healed, then know this and know it well: the Atonement of the world comes only through you. Wouldn't you say it's about time?

Hmm, many seem to be pondering it. I suppose we could wait until tomorrow. Or perhaps we could proliferate ten thousand more worlds so that you could journey forth through fields that are strewn only with the corpses of death and what must die? Or you can do it now.

In Truth, salvation cannot come tomorrow because, simply, time is not. You cannot move toward it, but you can embrace it where you are and as you are, because, in Truth, you are never anything less than the arisen Christ.

Would you choose, then, the peace that forever must pass all understanding? And what is passed but the understanding of a world that you have dreamed into being, a world fragmented, a world of limitation and fear. Therefore, I say unto you again, and I speak now unto many who have heard me say this countless times: it is not with the mind that the Kingdom can be grasped, but it is with the Heart that the Kingdom can be allowed.

There Is Nothing To Be Done But To Accept The Truth That Is Forever The Heart Of My Gospel: I And My Father Are One!

There is no one who has not taken upon themselves the keys unto the Kingdom. And the first of these is desire. And without uncompromising desire, awakening cannot come. And the second of these is intention. For where intention wavers, the mind becomes entranced, not with the Kingdom, but with the world. But the greatest of keys is the key of allowing, of allowing the only death that must occur, to see that you have never been who you have believed yourself to be, and to begin to see that you could never be anything less than the only begotten Child of God. And when you have completed the use of that key, then there comes unto you one which you can do nothing with, because it is given unto you through Grace. It is the key of surrender. Where never again you would take upon yourself the cloak of resistance and fear. Then is the Atonement completed on earth as it is already in heaven.

Contemplate well those words, "on earth as it is already done in heaven." You have not created the Atonement, for it has been completed for you since before time is. And your only choice is to remember it and to release the past, that in Truth is not, and to embrace again the Truth of your only reality, now, in this most Holy Instant.

Indeed, I Love you because you are the Love of the Father made flesh. And your only task is to allow that incomprehensible Light to move through you to transform you and to be you. Therefore, when the keys to the Kingdom have been completed, there is then a most Holy rebirth. And what arises from the ashes of the one who has believed himself to be the doer is the humble servant of an incomprehensible Mystery. And then you will know what it means to go as the wind. For, in Truth, you do not know from where it comes and you do not know where it goes. And so is everyone born of the Spirit of the arisen Christ.

Again, I say unto you: there is nothing you must do to earn it, nothing you can do to correct the faults you believe you have created. There is nothing to be done but to accept the gentle and simple Truth that is forever the Heart of my Gospel: I and my Father are One.

Therefore, indeed, allow the good, the holy, and the beautiful to pour forth through your soul. For you are the ones sent in this age, with all power under heaven and Earth, to reveal to your brothers and sisters the truth of a happy dream, the truth of perfect freedom, the end of fear, and the remembrance of Love. (CD - D&EC)

Remember always that you are the Light of this world. Why not get on with it? And with that, peace unto you always, from the Heart of one who Loves you and has reached across space and time to touch you and to whisper to you, "Beloved friend, come, take my hand. We are on the bridge already. Just step lightly. Come with Me. I know the Way."
