Let Your Joy, Your Peace and Your Love Burst The Walls Of The World!

What I am going to share with you is that the world you have dreamed into being, with all of its complexities, including the body, is really no big deal. It's quite harmless and holds no power over you. Each time you see something that seems to be a limitation, realize you are just looking at the boundary of your Mind that you have chosen for yourself. Now, there is a great Power in that because if you recognize the boundary of your Mind but you know that what you really want is Joy, you can choose to walk through that ring of fear, whatever it is. And just like stretching a muscle, the boundary expands. And as the boundary expands, more Joy flows from the Mind of God through you. More creative ideas and more responsibility. (JT - J2)

Do you see how the world would teach you to fantasize about winning a lottery so that you could be irresponsible? Isn't that true? So you won't have any worries. Worries are only the refusal to assume responsibility. And yet, paradoxically, when you join with me in being willing to assume responsibility for the Atonement for the whole of creation whew! Now there is an eighty-hour-a-week job – paradoxically, your joy becomes full and you rest in what is eternal.

For when you have expanded the boundaries of your Mind to allow Joy to be the fountain in which you swim always, and when that deep part of the Mind within you that is the Mind of Christ says, "All of creation is arisen within me. This is my doing. Therefore, I'm going to heal it and I'm going to correct it and I assume responsibility for the whole of the world," without jumping ahead to how you are going to take care of that, then the Father pours forth into you the Power and the Wisdom and the Light and the Life to achieve your goal of healing the whole of creation and completing the Atonement.

Responsibility For The Whole Of Creation Is What Will Make Your Joy Full!

Realize that no one is responsible for your thoughts save you. No one can change them. No one can heal them. No one is responsible for causing them but you. At first that seems to be a bit of a bummer because it means indeed accepting total responsibility, complete responsibility without an excuse, without claiming victimhood. And yet, claiming that responsibility is what empowers you. It empowers you to be willing, finally to be able to choose to be wholly Joyous.

And as you begin to tune into that frequency and you get a little bit of a shock wave going, "Whew, that was nice. Should I try it again? Oh, why not," and you open up and you say, "Father, I'm ready. Just pour it down through me. I dare You to overwhelm me." He'll try. He loves to try to do that. And then next the shock wave goes, "Whoops. Well, that was nice, too, and I didn't even need another body to get it. I didn't need to go to the movies. I didn't need to win the lottery. What caused it? My God, I did. No causative factor outside my desire, my willingness to feel Joy."

And the more and the more that you tune to that frequency, you will find that your Father's cup overflows and never stops flowing. And every moment can become more joyful than the one before, and who cares what the circumstances are.

As you tune into that frequency, the life that you have been living will begin to shift and change. Just remember that you are like a painter who takes a look at the color and says, "That's not quite right. I'm going to erase it." And a new color will come, and with that new color might be new friends, might be a new career. You might find yourself getting up at three a.m. for prayer and meditation. You might find a desire to discipline yourself just a little bit more. "Oh, God. Jeshua is talking about responsibility and discipline. I knew I should have gone to the movies."

Responsibility is what makes your joy full. Please remember that. Responsibility for the whole of creation is what will make your joy full.

The Simplest Ways Of Knowing Whether Or Not You Are Allowing Yourself To Flow With Joy!

Your life is worthy of reconstruction if that is what you desire. And I say this unto you, and those of you that have perhaps studied my Course In Miracles, rest assured, that if you are truly getting it, if the Atonement is beginning to stir within you, you are going to eventually have to come to face the fact that peace isn't just mental gymnastics. The healing of the mind must necessarily affect the healing of how you are in the world, that changes how you are in the world. And if that is occurring within you, certain things that you may have constructed in your life are going to start to feel like a prison to you.

Now, what happens is that the mind says, "Well, it's reality so I'll conform myself to it," instead of letting your Joy and your Peace and your Love burst the walls of it so that you can grow into something higher, more radiant, so that more and more Light can be entrusted to you to flow through you.

In short, what I am talking about here is, don't fool yourself. Don't rationalize it away. Face it head on and admit it. If there is some aspect of your life that is not working, get straight with yourself. Nobody is doing it but you. And all around you is the Power to effect change because the Power is within you.

What is one of the simplest ways of knowing whether or not you are allowing yourself to flow with Joy, your Heart's desires, not the ego's desires? The Heart's desires. If you feel frustration or limitation in any aspect of your life, it means that there is something yet within your perceptions that you have been fearful of turning to look at head on. And until you do so, you will never heal it. Never.

The same limitation will be made manifest to you in another thousand lifetimes. That's just the way it is. Of course, the mind says, "Who thought up this game? That doesn't sound like fun to me. Can't there be another way out?" No, you created the game. You are the Milton Bradleys of creation.

Come To Where I Am and Abide In The Unlimitedness Given Unto You!

Life is one great big Monopoly game. You designed it. You bought and constructed the house in which you live, and that house is your mind. And its foundation is the amount of Joy you are willing to open yourself up to and the degree to which you are willing to let that Joy pour forth through your life to burst out through the limitations that you might experience – until your Joy so far outshines the world that finally the perception is healed. The Light goes on and you realize, "Wait a minute. This Monopoly game can't contain my Light." And you will put away every last trace of need to try to conform yourself to the physical world. And then you will come to where I am and abide in the unlimitedness given unto you in the very moment that our Holy Father thought you into being as a Perfect Image of Himself.

Become unlimited. Choose to become Powerful and it will look differently to everybody. It doesn't mean that you are all going to become billionaires and run for President on the Independent Party ticket. But it does mean that you'll get straight with yourself and realize that there is some friction causing unhappiness in your life. Then you know there is a limit there, a limitation. You will turn and face it head on and declare that you are no longer willing to tolerate it because it does not befit the Holy Son of God.

So, I hope that so far that I have perhaps been able to shed Light on a few things, to give you a few thoughts to chew upon. I mean what I said when I said that my way is easy and without effort: the willingness to live an unlimited life filled with Power and Grace and Beauty and Creativity and Effectiveness, the willingness to learn, to change whatever habits of perception and thought and behavior you are carrying that are limiting you.

Cut Loose and Go for It!

The choice to live that kind of life really doesn't require any effort. What requires effort is the resistance to that life because it is a resistance to the overwhelming river of Joy that longs to pour forth through you, to rebirth you. Being in the world is what takes effort. The mind has simply gotten it confused.

So, cut loose and go for it! Cut loose and be willing to use each day to face your limitations head on – to Love them, to embrace them and to transcend them. And you will know when you have transcended them because they won't emerge any longer.

I call you to join with me in, shall we say, a bit of a new direction in our time together. I call you to join with me in learning how to express the Mastery that you are. All that has transpired and all that we've done to this point is to shake things up a bit and find out who really wants to get on with it.

Bringing Mastery Into Manifestation Will Require Your Diligence and Your Complete Commitment!!!

While I extend my Love to everyone, I cannot force myself on any mind and I cannot give what gifts I would bring to anybody who chooses not to put them into action. And if you happen to have some friends who love to talk about unlimitedness and Mastery, ask them if they are really ready for it.

For what we are going to begin is, if you will, a progressive experience of bringing Mastery into manifestation. But it will require your diligence and your complete commitment. It will require that you support one another and Love one another. It will require that you set aside the whole of the world wherever you happen to be and choose Joy.

So, right now, in your own way go inside your own Heart. Let the body relax and just breathe into the Heart, and when you are ready, ask yourself with complete honesty, "Am I really willing to take the curriculum now?"

And if as you seek to answer that question you see fears come up, you see questions come up that say, "Well, if I could only look ahead I might be able to make a decision," rest assured that part of you really isn't quite ready. And that's okay.

The Healing Of Mankind Requires Masters!!!

The Atonement requires finders and not seekers. The healing of mankind requires finders and not seekers. It requires Masters! Not those who say, "Well, gee, I'd like to master it all, but, gosh, I have so many other things to do." Those other things are there because you have resisted your own Mastery to some degree in some way.

When you are willing to learn what you know you don't yet know, Mastery is only a blink away. Interesting thought, don't you think? And take it another step further: when you are willing to learn what you couldn't even possibly learn that you don't know, that is called willingness.

Now in your language that sounds a little funny, but the same thing was posed to me by the one who was my Father. He put his hand on my shoulder and said, "Son, you've picked an interesting one. Quite a drama that you have scripted." And I looked at Him and said, "What are you talking about?" And He said, "Oh, I think you'll discover what I'm talking about. All in good time."

And in his own way He asked me the same question, "Are you willing to admit that there just might be something that you don't know and you don't even know that you don't know it? Are you willing to learn?"

And something in me, God only knows what, said, "Yes I am." And that made all the difference in my own life and the completion of the Atonement within me. And I like to think it's made some difference in the world. Just as your choice will make all the difference in the completion of your own Atonement and, therefore, will also make a difference in the world.

Joy Is A Frequency That You Can Feel Vibrating So That You Walk Around, Albeit A Few Inches Off The Ground!

Look around you for a moment, fellow travelers, desirous of mastering the only curriculum that needs to be learned. There are many ways to approach it but until you accept that to learn that curriculum must mean that the structure of your life around you becomes wholly and radically changed – and that will mean something different to each of you even now – you really haven't quite yet been willing to learn the curriculum no matter how many texts you've read. No matter how many verses you've memorized. No matter how many prayers you've said. Some part of you has not quite been willing to become vulnerable. How do you make yourself vulnerable? Choose Joy.

But remember, it's not just thought. It is a feeling of Power that literally wells up, vibrates the cells of the body so you can't contain it. It's not quite the same thing as what you experience as ecstatic happiness that seems to take you to a crescendo and then you're burned out afterward. That's not quite what I am talking about. This joy is a frequency that you can feel vibrating, and it can become constant and you can learn to master it so that you walk around, albeit a few inches off the ground, and you'll find that you will be able to function even in that frequency.

Certain things begin to emerge within that frequency: your ability, for instance, to be in this world and yet be totally with me, in total communication with me or any master you want to be with, becomes available – no separation between you and myself whatsoever. The ability to tune in to see how your friends are doing on the other side of the planet and to know what they are doing – all becomes very natural. Where to go, who to talk to; it all becomes an effortless flow.

Joy is like a fire and a frequency that burns out all of the cobwebs, gets rid of all of the static and clarifies the Mind of Christ. ~Jeshua
