

The Spirit You Are Is But The Breath Of God!

Index

| | Page |
|---|------|
| "Welcome Home, Beloved Brothers and Beloved Sisters. Welcome Home, Beloved Christ." | 2 |
| It Is Indeed A Grand Homecoming! | 4 |
| You Could See In An Instant The Most Incomprehensible Of Lights That Rests Easily Within Your Heart! | 5 |
| That Infinite and Unconditional Love With Which The Father Has Loved You! | 6 |
| "We Are The Son and It Is Time To Let Our Light Shine!" | 7 |
| You Have Chosen This Time and This Incarnation In Which To Awaken! | 7 |
| Within Your Heart You Already Know All Things! | 8 |

The Spirit You Are Is But The Breath Of God!

Peace be unto you, my beloved brothers and sisters, those who have journeyed long and far to come once again to the threshold of the Kingdom. And yet is it not that Kingdom which in Truth you have never left? I have spoken unto you the heart of the gospel that was brought to you so many years ago. It was not understood then, but by a few. But now is there a time upon this your beloved earth when the gospel can indeed be spread to the far corners of the earth and you will marvel at the speed in which this is accomplished. For I would have you understand this: the transmission of that which alone is Reality, that which alone is Truth, that which alone is the essence of your own Being requires no distances to be traveled and no time to be spent. There is but one requirement for the rebirth of the blessed Kingdom of our Holy Father, that for which you have prayed, that for which you have longed and that for which you have seemed to suffer so very much. And the requirement is but this: that each of you choose to acknowledge that you are the One you seek. (ARC)

Many are those that would beseech the Father, "Father grant me all things." But in the much shouting they do not hear the Father's instruction which would guide them to the treasure they would possess. And in their insistence that they lack all abundance in Truth they lack all abundance. But when the awakened Son acknowledges that all things are given to the Son freely from the Love that the Father is that Son finds himself in possession of all that is needed.

Not even your bodies are your own. For they are given you from the Love that is the Holy Mother, even this very earth. And the Spirit you are is but the Breath of God.

Upon what could you look and not find Me? What could you taste that does not contain Me? Where could you go that I am not? For if you would but split wood, you would behold Me. If you would lift but one grain of sand, there you would find Me also when first you choose to see with the eyes of the Heart in which the Son eternally dwells. And when you do not see Me, know that you have chosen to see with the eyes of the world. And that which brings heaviness to your countenance is but the trace of memories of experiences now outgrown. Put them away as the grown child does the toy. And yet it is the innocence of the child in which the Kingdom is remembered. All things come forth from Light incomprehensible. All things are sustained in Light incomprehensible. All things return to Light incomprehensible. Light of all lights, Truth of all truths. And it is this you are.

.....

"Welcome Home, Beloved Brothers and Beloved Sisters.
Welcome Home, Beloved Christ."

Rejoice then with me. For within me there is not one trace of sorrow. My mission upon your earth required no effort only actions born of the Father's Will. In sacrifice of all that you have thought yourself to be lies the peace that you would possess.

And if all that I did and if all that I taught accomplished anything at all, it was to demonstrate the Truth of who you are and how easily the Kingdom can be born even in the midst of what the world would perceive as incredible and as difficult circumstances. For though you would know not where tomorrow's meals might come from, yet does the Father already know that you have need of these things. Why then would you not trust Him? Why would you insist that you be the maker of your world? Would you choose strife over ease? Would you choose fear over certainty? Would you continue to choose even a trace of suffering, of lack, of doubt instead of choosing the presence of the Kingdom?

And when you become as the Light that in Truth you are, in Truth that Light lights up all darkness and the whole of your being will be given to the simple joyous task of serving the Father. And the Father would not but awaken the world. Let then each moment of your experience be a grand celebration of the Truth that you know and the Reality that we are. Care not for the things of the world. For he that would love the world cannot love the Father. But he that would love the Father already possesses all that the world could ever be.

Let the joy of remembrance light up your world and know well that all who come into contact with you will be touched by that Light though you speak not a word. Give them back to the Father, for He alone knows how to form their journeys that would bring them to this place and this knowingness and this peace. He alone knows how to bring all from time to eternity, from the world to the Kingdom, from suffering to joy. And you will come to know the Voice of the Holy Spirit that would nudge you to speak and to act. Not as you would speak, not as you would act, but as the Father would do these things through you. In the perfect servant is found the perfect silence. Abide then with me in all that silence, in all that it contains. For in perfect silence is perfect fullness. It is not that silence found between each word. It is not that silence that rests between each action, but it is that perfect silence in which all words can be spoken and all actions done. Abide here and here alone, and in this we are one.

Much there is to be set in place, for the awakened servant is like one who hears that the king of his Kingdom is coming nearer. And joyfully does he set about putting his house in order and allowing his family and his servants and his friends to hear the blessed news that the king comes to abide in their home and in their community. I would urge you, then, to put your own houses in order for the time is at hand. And I would urge you to join with one another as often as you may do so and celebrate with much laughter and with much praise of God, for the end of your journeys has come, that the Messiah is reawakened and has taken His place at the right hand of the Father whose Throne abides always in the very essence of your soul. And here there is no separation, one from another. For though bodies appear to abide in separation, the soul abides always in union.

Each of you I have known and each of you do I love with all that the Father has granted unto me, even that unconditional and that unbounded Love that alone gives birth to the whole of creation. And know that that Love fills every corner of your being and in you there is not a trace of shadow. Thus do I, the one known as the Christ, speak this unto you, "Welcome home, beloved brothers and beloved sisters. Welcome home, beloved Christ."

.....

It Is Indeed A Grand Homecoming!

All of your teachings and all of your learnings have been but as guideposts to bring you to this acknowledgement: That the Son of the Holy Father is One, and that all beings that have ever been abide in the Son. And to know this, again I say unto you, you have and do and will live the life of all beings upon all planes of creation, for in Truth all things are contained in what you are.

And now even in this moment turn your attention to the Throne of the Father within your own Hearts, feel His presence there, feel the lightness that begins to come: a lightness that dissolves all shadow, a lightness that begins to move the very energies of the body toward laughter, toward rejoicing and toward that sacred smile that would touch the lips. See well then that the Father has never been apart from you. And that with every Breath of this seemingly long and complex journey it is the Father that has been your perfect Guide. It is your Father that has protected you and yet allowed you the whole of the dreams you would have chosen to dream. And yet they all culminate in this sacred and Holy Instant: the reawakening of the Son of God.

Many of you have already heard the whispering Voice of the Father that would teach you of what is to come and what must be prepared. Deny this Voice no longer but speak freely to these your brothers and sisters of what you have felt and what you have heard and what you know. For it is through this sharing that the Father would now choose to work among you. And I am and have been but the servant of the Father, for I have called you and you have heard. And in your hearing you have come.

Do you think it by accident that each of you from the moment of your birth has brought yourselves to this place and this time? It is indeed a grand homecoming. So release then the habit born of the world that would have you pretend that you are but acquaintances. There is no one present here that has not known all others. And it is for this message that I have asked each of you to be here this evening. For those that are called are the chosen of God. And all that are in Truth the chosen of the Father are those that have chosen the Father, wholly and without reservation now and in this time. Rejoice then in the choice that you have made, not with the conscious mind but with the Heart. For it is not the mind that can comprehend the Kingdom but the Heart knows all things. Rest then in peace, my dearly beloved brothers and sisters. For now is the time of rejoicing at hand. The long, long journey has ended. The days of preparation that each of you has chosen find their culmination in this moment.

Much indeed is there to be set in place. Join then with one another to serve the Will of the Father that speaks through you. Hear it within the chamber of your Heart and share it with one another. I would ask that you continue to join with each other and wherever two or three of you are gathered together in this manner, know in Truth that I am with you. For we share in the work that the Father would have us do. Set then your house in order. Even the very bodies given to you by our Holy Mother.

Honor with each Breath the Holy Father which is in heaven and the Holy and precious Mother that is in and is the earth. Treat her well and give thanks to her and if you but ask her, she will guide you in all that you need do to set the temple in order that the Kingdom of the King might come and abide in you and with you, that through you the world might be whole, the precious and eternal Truth that the Father is.

You can know even in this moment the purpose for your being. Give thanks then one to another for you have been brother, sister, father, child, teacher, student, advocate and adversary, with no other purpose but to learn of the energies of the world that you might serve the Father. Release the last vestige of doubt, relax the shadows that have bound the Heart and abide in that perfect peace that passes all understanding. Know that where any two of you in Truth join together in this most Holy of instants you have come finally and completely to where I am, and that you behold in the eyes of your brother and sister naught but the presence of Christ.

.....

You Could See In An Instant The Most Incomprehensible Of Lights That Rests Easily Within Your Heart!

You need only stretch forth your arms and turn your palms toward the heavens, which is merely a symbol of turning your attention from that which is below to that which is above. And simply ask of the Father in the name of Son and He will give it unto you. For if you would but look upon every moment of this life that you have lived, you will see that you have received that which you have asked for. And so the choice seems so simple: to choose anew or to repeat those choices. But already do you know, [they] can serve you no longer.

Beloved and Holy Son of God, would you yet choose to cling to a momentary dream of separation? Would you choose to insist on beating the breast of your own individuality, when you could choose together to become again as one mind, one Heart and even of one body? This, then, is the essence of the body of Christ: to join together in that secret chamber of the Heart that knows no location and neither beginning nor end. And to know fully that you are not separate from any time and any place and any mind and any being, but you are already the life of all beings.

Would you not choose with me to bring forth a world reborn? Not one that merely repeats the limitations of shadows outgrown but one transfigured in that most incomprehensible of Lights that rests easily within your Heart and is closer than your very Breath. For if any among you would sit quietly and allow your attention to rest with what you believe to be the physical movement of God, you could see in an instant that it is but an expression of a Light that you are. And if that Light not be given wholly to you in every moment, you would cease to be.

And yet have you learned from your illusions to believe you must cling so tightly to what you have thought yourself to be. But the power of the Son is given in this to decree that a thing is so and it is so. What then are you choosing to decree? If you would know clearly what you are choosing to create, open your eyes and in every moment that which comes unto you has already been freely chosen by you.

And if you hear my message but a little, though wonder deeply upon what seems to be the fact of your moments of lack and emptiness and hurt and confusion and wonder, why do I choose these things? For you are worthy of the full abundance that the Father would bestow upon you. And yet I would say this unto you: the abundance of the Father is given unto to the Son, not that the Son would possess that abundance but would shower it freely upon his brothers and his sisters. And as quickly as you would do this, the Father will not only replace your abundance but it would blossom sevenfold. For there is not one thing you need in Truth to receive. But there are all things that you in Truth need to give away. For that which is given in Light, speaks in Light. And that which is received of Light, expresses Light and transforms the sleeping Heart of a brother or sister to whom you would extend it.

.....

That Infinite and Unconditional Love With Which The Father Has Loved You!

When I walked among you, I did but one simple thing: in each moment I extended the perfect Love of the Father to each and every one whom I met; whether they embraced me or rejected me, it mattered not. For the simple and final joy of the awakened Son is to give away freely that infinite and unconditional Love with which the Father has loved you.

The perfect servant of the Father is like one who has received from his master more than he could have ever dreamed of. And in his gladness and in his surprise, he spends the whole of his life traveling about the countryside, seeking only to tell all others, "Look, look what the master has given unto me. Here, take, partake of this. Let me give it to you. For my master has so much more to give me. Here, take this. Please, take it!" And to as many who would receive it, does the servant give it freely. Knowing that when he returns to the abode of his Master he will be the receiver for more to be extended exponentially.

What then have you chosen to fear? Why have you chosen to fear it? Would you yet choose to hide your Light under a bushel, believing that you are unworthy of it? But surely some other must be the Messiah. But surely some other must be the saviour prayed for. And now is the time upon you to understand that your prayers have been but for yourself. And in the seat of your very soul do I abide. And from the seat of your very soul did I spring forth. That the Light of God might be made manifest in the forms to which the sleeping children of God have become accustomed.

You have been told that my journey among you was ended with sorrow and pain and that in the symbol of the suffering Christ is found your redemption. But those that would teach this were simply those who refused my gospel. I did not suffer. Never was there a moment that I did not abide eternally in the presence of our Father. And though the momentary form that you would call a body seemed to go through changes and to become lifeless, never did I leave the abode of our Father, very Light of very Light. The One Son united with the Father brought forth that one Light to demonstrate the fullness of the Truth that each of you already is. And I would ask you to receive this now wholly that that lifetime that you have said belonged only to me is yours.

And if you would choose to abandon the veil behind which you would hide yourself, you would see in a moment every detail of that life, even as it is given unto you to see the detail of every life that has ever been, is now, or ever shall be.

.....

"We Are The Son and It Is Time To Let Our Light Shine!"

The end of all striving to know God is found in the recognition that there is only God. There is no special fanfare; there is no great technique that you must master, save to rest in the throne of your own Heart and there to silently acknowledge, "I choose the ending of all dreams and I allow myself to abide in myself, in the Father, with the Father, by the Father." And then will the Son that has slept so long be reborn as what he was made to be, the simple and perfect servant who would serve the Father. And is not that service but to extend the Love that the Father is, that the Light of the Father might transform all things and bring all things back unto Him?

Would you pray for the birth of a New Age? Then choose now to be what you would pray for. Look upon one another and acknowledge, "We are the Son and it is time to let our Light shine."

And well do I perceive that as these words have been spoken, already is there a contraction felt around the Heart of many of you. Look, then, and see that it is a contraction and a denial that you are simply choosing to sustain for yet a little while.

But the dreamer is as one who would clench his fist tightly, so tightly that he believes no light can enter. And yet that which is begun in effort must give way to exhaustion. And when exhaustion comes to the one who would slumber and dream that he lives in separation of the Father, when this exhaustion comes, already does he release his hold and behold [that] the Light he would keep out is already present, within his fist. Thus does the palm open and the Light of the Father is given freely.

.....

You Have Chosen This Time and This Incarnation In Which To Awaken!

Allow yourself this opportunity to contemplate this simple, simple message: "I and my Father are one," and to behold in your own being what that Truth means.

And as you do this, notice what arises. In many of you the mind fights back denying again and yet again that this cannot be true. And yet for as often as you would repeat this simple Truth, the thoughts which are born of the world and not of Reality would diminish until they are no more. And then will the world be transfigured before you and you will be greatly humbled. For you will recognize that the only Reality that the Father would have the Son bring forth is to be the perfect servant in need of nothing, wanting nothing, striving for nothing, seeking nothing. For when you look and see that all things are already within you, what could you possibly lack?

And know not but one stone in your path that will not be instantly removed if you would but ask from this place of remembrance. For all lack, all suffering, and all doubt is but the result of your choice to forget who you are. In these days there is no more perfect practice than the art of remembrance, not done once but in every moment. Imagine the grace and power of not even allowing a thought to arise in the mind, save those that emerge in the soil of remembrance.

There are those who touched that place and know well of which I speak. There are others who cannot comprehend that this could be so. But I say this unto you: you will know. For within your soul you have chosen this time and this incarnation in which to awaken. You have journeyed forth into many worlds born of the illusion of separation. And well have you witnessed that they are empty. The prodigal son is every soul caught in that dream, "I am separate from the Father; I must make my own world." What a burden that dream is. And yet in the Kingdom there is no effort. Therefore, my way is easy and my burden very Light.

For what could be lighter than a life lived without the effort born of anxiety to secure one's survival, to make one's way, fearing what the world would say, fearing what the world would do?

To be born in Truth again into the Spirit of the Kingdom is to live without plan, to live without the need to store up in barns. It is to move as the Voice of the Father, given you through the Holy Spirit, would have you move, knowing fully that in this and this alone does your fulfillment rest. It is this Kingdom to which I would call you. Not a kingdom of fear but a Kingdom of Peace. Not a kingdom of effort but a Kingdom of perfect Grace.

.....

Within Your Heart You Already Know All Things!

If you could but stand with outstretched arms, palms facing heavenward, and acknowledge that you are the only begotten Son of God, there is not one thing that would not be granted you. For the Father longs to give the Son the whole of His Kingdom. It is only in your choice to deny it that you can ever experience lack. Let there be then great rejoicing and an end to suffering. To this have I called you. Of this do I speak, and to this does the sleeping child of God now awaken upon this the beloved earth. Give no thought to how this awakening is to be accomplished. For the Father alone knows these things. But trust what you feel even in this moment within your Heart and you will know that what I speak to you is Truth. For the end of this age is not the end of this earth nor is it the end of mankind. But it is the end of sleep. And the awakened Son as the whole of mankind will swiftly put an end to all strife. Not one brother or sister will be denied.

And when the Son has experienced this great and perfect Kingdom, even the whole of creation will have served its purpose. And the whole of creation will return to the Father. And yet of this, one cannot speak, for here no words can touch. And yet I say this unto you again: within your Heart you already know all things. Call it not your imagination, for this is but what the world would have you believe. But stand resolute in your faith. For in faith is perfect knowledge.

Remember always that you are loved because you are Love. Remember always that I am with you because I am you. And those among you who have yearned to embrace me and to know me, the one called Christ, embrace first the fullness of your own being and you will have embraced me.

And all that I have spoken to you and all that I have shared with you throughout the many forms of my teaching, you will know in an instant to have been your own. Herein is Truth recognized. Herein is Reality embraced. Herein and here alone does life in Truth begin.

And now abide with one another in this Holy Instant created not by us but given freely of the Father that His child might awaken from the dream. And from the depth of your Heart, contemplate well the message given. For I speak naught but that which is given me of the Father to share. For of myself, I in Truth do nothing but the Father eternally is the doer of all things.

And now let us begin.

Page Ref:

The Way of Mastery:
ARC Archives Files

If a paragraph does not have a page number reference, it is part of the previous paragraph's page number.

This material was prepared to help Mastery groups in studying The Way of Mastery. You may copy and redistribute this material so long as you do not alter it in any way, the content remains complete, and you include this link as the source of the material: www.shantichristo.com

If you want to use this material for any purpose other than to help facilitate a study group (such as posting to the internet or a website), please contact Shanti Christo Foundation for written permission to do so at: 505-216-7541 or staff@shantichristo.com.

The Way of Mastery, Copyright © Shanti Christo Foundation. All Rights Reserved.

The Spirit You Are Is But The Breath Of God!.pdf
23-03-139