Within Your Soul You Have Chosen This Time and This Incarnation In Which To Awaken!

You are the awakened and the only begotten son of the Father. In Truth, begotten before all worlds, the maker of all worlds, the experience of all deeds and in these days the one through whom the Kingdom shall be remembered. Further darkness can deny Light; it cannot defeat it. And now is the time upon this your blessed earth to remove the shutters from the windows of your Heart and to live the truth of who you are, fearing not the perceptions of others. For where you go, I Am. And where I Am, the Father is. (ARC)

Can you and will you choose in each and every moment to acknowledge the Truth that lies within your Heart? For the words that I would speak are not mine but yours. They live already within you. And no words that the world could shout to you can blind the radiance in which you abide. Your only task, and indeed that for which you have chosen to come forth into these times, is to acknowledge wholly before every breath that you are the only begotten son of God. And as you choose to do this, you will indeed look out upon a world transfigured and you will behold naught but the radiant splendor of the son that dwells in the Heart of all.

There Is No More Perfect Practice Than The Art Of Remembrance!

Allow yourself this opportunity to contemplate this simple, simple message: "I and my Father are one," and to behold in your own being what that Truth means.

And as you do this, notice what arises. In many of you the mind fights back denying again and yet again that this cannot be true. And yet for as often as you would repeat this simple truth, the thoughts which are born of the world and not of reality would diminish until they are no more. And then will the world be transfigured before you and you will be greatly humbled. For you will recognize that the only Reality that the Father would have the Son bring forth is to be the Perfect Servant in need of nothing, wanting nothing, striving for nothing, seeking nothing. For when you look and see that all things are already within you, what could you possibly lack?

And know not but one stone in your path that will not be instantly removed if you would but ask from this place of remembrance. For all lack, all suffering, and all doubt is but the result of your choice to forget who you are. In these days there is no more perfect practice than the art of remembrance, not done once but in every moment. Imagine the Grace and Power of not even allowing a thought to arise in the mind, save those that emerge in the soil of remembrance.

There are those who touched that place and know well of which I speak. There are others who cannot comprehend that this could be so. But I say this unto you: you will know. For within your soul you have chosen this time and this incarnation in which to awaken. You have journeyed forth into many worlds born of the illusion of separation. And well have you witnessed that they are empty.

The prodigal son is every soul caught in that dream, "I am separate from the Father; I must make my own world." What a burden that dream is. And yet in the Kingdom there is no effort. Therefore, my way is easy and my burden very light. For what could be lighter than a life lived without the effort born of anxiety to secure one's survival, to make one's way, fearing what the world would say, fearing what the world would do?

To be born in Truth again into the Spirit of the Kingdom is to live without plan, to live without the need to store up in barns. It is to move as the Voice of the Father, given you through the Holy Spirit, would have you move, knowing fully that in this and this alone does your fulfillment rest. It is this Kingdom to which I would call you. Not a kingdom of fear but a Kingdom of peace. Not a kingdom of effort but a Kingdom of Perfect Grace.

Remember Always That You Are Loved Because You Are Love!

If you could but stand with outstretched arms, palms facing heavenward, and acknowledge that you are the only begotten Son of God, there is not one thing that would not be granted you. For the Father longs to give the Son the whole of His Kingdom. It is only in your choice to deny it that you can ever experience lack.

Let there be then great rejoicing and an end to suffering. To this have I called you. Of this do I speak, and to this does the sleeping child of God now awaken upon this the beloved earth. Give no thought to how this awakening is to be accomplished. For the Father alone knows these things. But trust what you feel even in this moment within your Heart and you will know that what I speak to you is Truth. For the end of this age is not the end of this earth nor is it the end of mankind. But it is the end of sleep and the awakened Son as the whole.

And when the Son has experienced this great and perfect Kingdom, even the whole of creation will have served its purpose. And the whole of creation will return to the Father. And yet of this, one cannot speak, for here no words can touch. And yet I say this unto you again: within your Heart you already know all things. Call it not your imagination, for this is but what the world would have you believe.

But stand resolute in your faith. For in faith is Perfect Knowledge. Remember always that you are loved because you are Love. Remember always that I am with you because I am you. And those among you who have yearned to embrace me and to know me, the one called Christ, embrace first the fullness of your own being and you will have embraced me.

And all that I have spoken to you and all that I have shared with you throughout the many forms of my teaching, you will know in an instant to have been your own. Herein is Truth recognized. Herein is Reality embraced. Herein and here alone does Life in Truth begin.

Now The End Of All Illusion Is Upon Us!

If you would know goodness, then be goodness. If you would know the unfathomable giving that is the Love of the Father, then be that unfathomable giving. Who among your brothers and sisters is not worthy of beholding the presence of the Son? Why then would you deny Him to them? For where you are the Son is, without limitation and without boundary. Be this; teach this. Give to your brothers and sisters the one and only thing that in Truth they are seeking, though it be masked in many forms. For never has the sleeping Son sought anything but to awaken from His dream and to abide wholly and eternally in the arms of the Father. And now the end of all illusion is upon us.

Feel the very Light that the Son is, awakened within your own Heart. For this moment have you come into this world. Would you choose now to deny the fulfillment of all that your journeys have shown you? Never in Truth have I been apart from you, nor you from I. It is this that the whole of mankind longs to remember. It is the forgetting of this one great Truth that begets all sorrow and all senseless repeating of experiences which no longer can serve a purpose.

Therefore, my yoke is easy and my burden Light. For there is no effort to be made in the Kingdom and yet all that is set before you, the one that would serve first the Will of the Father within them. What life could be lighter, what experience more joyful than to abide in and as that perfect freedom that has existed before the world is? Be this Truth. Teach this Truth. And when another would speak unto you, see in them only what the Father sees, even the perfected Son in Truth eternally awake, choosing for yet a little while to continue a useless dream.

The Kingdom cannot be proven nor is it your task to do so. But the Father would simply have you abide in the Reality of who and what you are. It is not your task to save the world. But it is your task to remember eternally in each and every moment where Reality truly lies. As you practice this, you will become more and more even what I demonstrated upon this plane. And all that I have done you will do and even greater things will you manifest. For unto the Son in these times is given all power to transfigure this world. In you there is no lack; therefore, let there be within you no doubt. For where there is doubts, know that you have chosen to separate yourself from the Kingdom. And where there is remembrance, the Heart abides in quiet peace. And it is the Heart of the servant who simply serves the Will of the Father and has given all things back to the Father, knowing full well that it is the Father alone that knows the beginning, the journeys and the end of all things.

Now The Time Of Acknowledgement Is In Truth Upon Us!

Unburden yourself from the world. Unburden yourselves from fear. Unburden yourself from doubt. Allow the mind to rest in silence. Allow the Heart to rest in emptiness. For when the mind is stilled from its grasping and its judging, and when the Heart is emptied of all that the world has placed within it, then does the Father make His abode with you.

Then is the Son reawakened and the Kingdom is and the world ceases to be. He that understands these words has in Truth come to where I am and we abide eternally as one. Here, then, is the final doorway. Here, then, the threshold gently crossed. Here, then, is that peace that in Truth passes all understanding. Herein I am. Herein you are.

There is not a moment of your experience in which you do not already abide in the arms of the Father. There is not a moment of your experience in which His Will for you is not being made manifest. But the sleeping son who would insist on seeking the Father, rushes by Him and sees Him not. But the son that would rest in peace, giving up all thoughts of what the world is and what it should be, abides in stillness and in stillness recognizes that the Father is with him and then great Laughter comes. Not that laughter born from the world but a Laughter that transcends all of time and all of space. It is a Laughter that echoes through the whole of the cosmos. It is a laughter that uplifts and transfigures every jot and tittle of this magnificent creation. Accept then the gift freely given. Accept the reality that you have held it within the palms of your hands throughout the whole of time. And now the time of acknowledgement is in Truth upon us.

The Ears Of The Heart Hear The Sacred Voice Of The Father!

No more will I, the only begotten Son of God go out from my Father's Holy place. For I and my Father are one. Herein is the end of all gospels. Herein is the end of all searching. Herein is the only Reality that has ever existed. And there is no one thing that you have ever done that has separated you from this Truth. There is not one thing you must ever do to win the gift freely given. Every breath you breathe, every movement of the body, every word you speak, every thought you think, every communication given be naught but the expression of the Truth you are.

It requires not that you climb to the rooftops and shout this gospel for it is in great simplicity that the ears of the Heart hear the sacred Voice of the Father given through the very presence of the Son. There is not one soul upon this earth, there is not one soul in the many planes of creation that exist even in this same space that cannot be touched by your loving embrace, and yet it is not to them that you must reach, but to yourself.

For again I say unto you where Light abides in Light, darkness cannot be. And you are the Light that lights all worlds. When you choose to enter the quiet chamber of your Heart in Perfect Silence and Perfect Remembrance, your Light shines through the whole of creation. And is not this the Perfect Gift of the Father to the Son? But the task the Father would have the Son complete requires not the least bit of struggle. For struggle is born only of your world and never of your Reality. Where you feel struggle, know that for a moment you have forgotten the Kingdom. Where you experience lack, know that in that moment you have forgotten the Kingdom.

Many are those that would beseech the Father, "Father grant me all things." But in the much shouting they do not hear the Father's instruction which would guide them to the treasure they would possess.

And in their insistence that they lack all abundance they experience a lack of all abundance. But when the awakened Son acknowledges that all things are given to the Son freely from the Love that the Father is that Son finds himself in possession of all that is needed. Not even your bodies are your own. For they are given you from the love that is the Holy Mother, even this very earth. And the spirit you are is but the Breath of God.

Choose To See With The Eyes Of The Heart!

Upon what could you look and not find Me? What could you taste that does not contain Me? Where could you go that I am not? For if you would but split wood, you would behold Me. If you would lift but one grain of sand, there you would find Me also when first you choose to see with the eyes of the Heart in which the Son eternally dwells. And when you do not see Me, know that you have chosen to see with the eyes of the world.

And that which brings heaviness to your countenance is but the trace of memories of experiences now outgrown. Put them away as the grown child does the toy. And yet it is the innocence of the child in which the Kingdom is remembered. All things come forth from Light incomprehensible. All things are sustained in Light incomprehensible. All things return to Light incomprehensible. Light of all Lights, Truth of all truths. And it is this you are.

Rejoice then with me. For within me there is not one trace of sorrow. My mission upon your earth required no effort only actions born of the Father's Will. In sacrifice of all that you have thought yourself to be lies the peace that you would possess. And if all that I did and if all that I taught accomplished anything at all, it was to demonstrate the Truth of who you are and how easily the Kingdom can be born even in the midst of what the world would perceive as incredible and as difficult circumstances.

For though you would know not where tomorrow's meals might come from, yet does the Father already know that you have need of these things. Why then would you not trust Him? Why would you insist that you be the maker of your world? Would you choose strife over ease? Would you choose fear over certainty? Would you continue to choose even a trace of suffering, of lack, of doubt instead of choosing the presence of the Kingdom?

And when you are become as the Light that in Truth you are, in Truth that Light lights up all darkness and the whole of your being will be given to the simple Joyous task of serving the Father. And the Father would not but awaken the world. Let then each moment of your experience be a grand celebration of the Truth that you know and the Reality that we are. Care not for the things of the world. For he that would love the world cannot love the Father. But he that would love the Father already possesses all that the world could ever be.

There Is No Greater Joy Than To Be But The Perfect Servant Of The Will Of Our Father!

Is it not time to release this dream of separation, believing you are eternally separate from the father and many other only begotten sons? Is it not time to bring to a close this age of darkness and confusion that has reigned upon our beloved earth? It is not by accident that I come forth in this manner and it is not by accident that I work now in these last days in many ways to touch the sleeping child of God. And yet always have I been with you. Always have I known you. And always have you known me. I have been but a thought away, and yet for many of you that thought has created innumerable lifetimes of denial, of pain, of seeming adventure. And yet now in this moment you have chosen in the depth of your soul to hear once again what I have spoken to you, to hear once again that which alone is Truth, that which alone is the Reality of your being. Would you choose to deny it yet again?

Where I am, there is naught but Peace. Where I am, there is naught but simple Joy. Where I am, there is naught but Love. Where I am, the Father is. Here do I abide and here I would have you come.

*For there is no greater joy than to be but the Perfect Servant of the Will of our Father, who alone knows the fruit of all things who alone knows the purpose of our action. And yet the world would have you believe that you are the maker of your reality. But I say this unto you, you have never made your reality; you have only served to make your illusion. For the Father alone is the maker of Reality. And it is a great Truth that the soul cannot serve two masters. You cannot abide in the illusion which is the world and abide also in the Kingdom in the same manner. You cannot hold within your Hearts judgment and at the same time abide in Love. You cannot abide in the ignorance and confusion, which is all that the world knows, and at the same time abide in Perfect Wisdom, that the Father would set before you and to give to you without cost and without effort.*

Embrace All That The Kingdom Offers You!

Those who are feeling limitation in your life, first recognize that you are choosing it. And let there be no guilt in this. But embrace it, speak the Truth of who you are, and it will come to be no more. For it has never been the Will of our Father that his child should abide in lack, in suffering, in doubt, in confusion. For the Son was made to be but the Perfect Servant of Light and of Love and of sacred creativity. For the Father longs to give wholly of Himself, and it is through the Son that the Mystery which the Father is can be allowed form, simply for the joy of it.

Who among you in Truth would rather choose pain than Joy? Who among you in Truth choose suffering and doubt and lack, when with but a simple choice you could abide in the Kingdom and embrace all that the Kingdom offers you: Peace eternal, Joy forever fulfilled, Delight beyond all comprehension?

And the sleeping Son of God is soon to awaken. It is this stirring that you have felt in your Hearts and which in Truth has brought you to this place. For the end of the age is upon us.

Beloved, Holy Son of God, choose now in this moment to remember the Truth of who you are. And if you would but do this and gaze upon your brothers and sisters, you will delight in one's simple recognition: never in Truth do you look upon another, for you see naught but yourself. And when you look upon your brother or sister, would you not choose to see the Light within them undistorted? And know this well when you choose to do this, you have chosen to participate in the work that the Father would have us do. And you have allowed your brother or sister the opportunity to remember. For you have given up insisting that they be less than who they are.

In this simple task there is great power. Each and every one of you could transform your world and, therefore, the whole of the worlds of mankind, if you would but choose in each moment to abide in the Reality of your own being and to pursue the Reality of the Son in all others. It is with this simple choice that the peace that indeed must forever pass all understanding can be made manifest upon the earth.

I Have Called You and You Have Heard!!!

All of your teachings and all of your learnings have been but as guideposts to bring you to this acknowledgement: That the Son of the Holy Father is One, and that all beings that have ever been abide in the Son. And to know this, again I say unto you, you have and do and will live the life of all beings upon all planes of creation, for in Truth all things are contained in what you are.

And now even in this moment turn your attention to the throne of the Father within your own Hearts, feel His presence there, feel the lightness that begins to come: a lightness that dissolves all shadow, a lightness that begins to move the very energies of the body toward laughter, toward rejoicing and toward that sacred smile that would touch the lips. See well then that the Father has never been apart from you. And that with every breath of this seemingly long and complex journey it is the Father that has been your perfect Guide. It is your Father that has protected you and yet allowed you the whole of the dreams you would have chosen to dream. And yet they all culminate in this Sacred and Holy Instant: the reawakening of the Son of God.

Many have already heard the whispering Voice of the Father that would teach you of what is to come and what must be prepared. Deny this Voice no longer but speak freely to these your brothers and sisters of what you have felt and what you have heard and what you know. For it is through this sharing that the Father would now choose to work among you. And I am and have been but the servant of the Father, for I have called you and you have heard. And in your hearing you have come.

Do you think it by accident that each of you from the moment of your birth has brought yourselves to this place and this time? It is indeed a grand homecoming. So release then the habit born of the world that would have you pretend that you are but acquaintances.

There is no one present here that has not known all others. For those that are called are the chosen of God. And all that are in Truth the chosen of the Father are those that have chosen the Father, wholly and without reservation now and in this time. Rejoice then in the choice that you have made, not with the conscious mind but with the Heart. For it is not the mind that can comprehend the Kingdom but the Heart knows all things. For now is the time of rejoicing at hand. The long, long journey has ended. The days of preparation that each of you has chosen find their culmination in this moment.

Release The Last Vestige Of Doubt!

Much indeed is there to be set in place. Join then with one another to serve the Will of the Father that speaks through you. Hear it within the chamber of your Heart and share it with one another. I would ask that you continue to join with each other and wherever two or three of you are gathered together in this manner, know in Truth that I am with you. For we share in the work that the Father would have us do. Set then your house in order. Honor with each breath the Holy Father which is in heaven and the Holy and precious Mother that is in and is the earth. Treat her well and give thanks to her and if you but ask her, she will guide you in all that you need do to set the temple in order that the Kingdom of the King might come and abide in you and with you, that through you the world might be whole, the precious and eternal Truth that the Father is.

Release the tension that would bind the Heart. Breathe only the Light that is your Love of the Father. Receive it one from another and give it forth freely one to the other. And if you would but allow it as you gaze deeply into the eyes of your beloved brothers and sisters you can know even in this moment the times when you have known this one, the forms of your experience and the purpose for your being. Give thanks then one to another for you have been brother, sister, father, child, teacher, student, advocate and adversary, with no other purpose but to learn of the energies of the world that you might serve the Father.

Release the last vestige of doubt, relax the shadows that have bound the Heart and abide in that Perfect Peace that passes all understanding. Know that where the eyes of any two of you in Truth join together in this most Holy of Instants you have come finally and completely to where I am, and that you behold in the eyes of your brother and sister naught but the presence of Christ.

And now let the eyes gently close, and abide in that secret and silent chamber of the Heart, and behold the throne where the Father abides. Give thanks unto Him with the full acknowledgement that every breath you have breathed and every experience you have had has been given you of the Father that you might reawaken to the Truth of your being and to know that you abide in the Kingdom for ever and ever and ever.

And now the end of all sorrow is upon us. And now does that eternal Light shine so brightly without limitation, without boundary. For the Truth is made known among us. For that Truth we are. And the end of all Gospels abides here: I and my Father are one.

My blessings are upon you. My Love do I shower upon you. And yet now do you know that my blessings are your blessings and my Love your Love. It is this that you have sought. It is this you have seen in me. And it is this that you now embrace. Never will you go out from your Father's Perfect Place. Never will you be without me. Nor without one another. Pray, then, often for one another. Support and Love one another. For inasmuch as you do this, in Truth you are doing it unto me, the Christ, the only begotten of God, begotten before all worlds and of one substance with the Father. And now do you know the meaning of these words.

Know That Love Fills Every Corner Of Your Being!

Let the Joy of remembrance light up your world and know well that all who come into contact with you will be touched by that Light though you speak not a word. Give them back to the Father, for He alone knows how to form their journeys that would bring them to this place and this knowingness and this peace. He alone knows how to bring all from time to eternity, from the world to the Kingdom, from suffering to Joy.

And you will come to know the Voice of the Holy Spirit that would nudge you to speak and to act. Not as you would speak, not as you would act, but as the Father would do these things through you. In the Perfect Servant is found the Perfect Silence. Abide then with me in all that silence, in all that it contains. For in Perfect Silence is Perfect Fullness. It is not that silence found between each word. It is not that silence that rests between each action, but it is that Perfect Silence in which all words can be spoken and all actions done. Abide here and here alone, and in this we are one.

Each of you I have known, and each of you do I Love with all that the Father has granted unto me, even that unconditional and that unbounded Love that alone gives birth to the whole of creation. And know that that Love fills every corner of your being and in you there is not a trace of shadow. Thus do I, the one known as the Christ, speak this unto you, "Welcome home, beloved brothers and beloved sisters. Welcome home, beloved Christ."

The choice is simple and the Kingdom is born without the least trace of effort. This seems madness to a mind that would insist upon separation and yet it is seen as the most obvious of facts to the mind of the awakened Son. Choose then with me, in each of the moments given you by the Holy Father, to remember the truth of who you are and you will behold before your eyes the transformation of all that you experience. And your life will become lighter and lighter and lighter, filled with Joy and there will be a day in which not a trace of doubt or shadow could possibly arise.

Herein is the Kingdom known. Be then at peace, even that peace bestowed upon the Son from before time is, held lovingly and eternally in the arms of the Father against whom you in Truth have never sinned. And where there has been no sin, is there need of salvation? Therefore, abandon your beliefs about salvation because you have misunderstood it.

Salvation is the very act of this sacred remembrance. It alone can wash away our tears. Abide here with me. Abide here with me always and forever. For it is from this place that I am brought forth of the Father that is in this place that I eternally abide. And it is to this place that I would have you come.

Come now and come wholly. Remember always that you are loved because you are Love. Heed well what has been shared and Love one another. And peace be eternally with you.

Amen!
