It Is You and You Alone Who Will Transform Your World!

What you are in Truth is eternal and has never been limited by space and time. Never in Truth have you been limited by a body. Never have you known birth nor death. For is it not written that you are made in the image of your Father? And if you would receive it, I have shared with you that which the Father is. And if you be made in His image, you are all that the Father is. And how can these things ever be limited by what you know as space and time?

The Kingdom cannot be denied but it can be forgotten, veiled by nothing more than a limited thought held within the Son of our Holy Father. And as I have taught you that thought is but one: "I am separate from my Father and, therefore, I am alone. Let me seek refuge and hide from all that I perceive to be separate from myself." And so have you come to the experience of seeking to shield yourself within body, within personality after personality, denying the Truth of who and what you are.

Now upon this simple thought comes the birth of all worlds ever created within the experience of mankind. And I would have you understand that you have known every time and every place. And I say unto you: all of life is but eternally one Life.

It is not found to exist within one body and then within another and then amongst the objects brought forth by this your most precious and Holy Mother. Life is that in which all things arise. And you are that one Life. You have been taught that you are your brother's keeper. But I say this unto you: you are your brother. You are every blade of grass. You are every flower. You are the power that moves oceans. You are the power that moves the stars. You are the Life and the Light of the whole of Creation.

And it is this understanding and this divine remembrance that you feel impelled to find and discover. Have you felt something within your being that continues to move you? And though you would seek for the Father, for He cannot be found, you have moved from one relationship to another, from one career to another, from one location to another, and from one incarnation to another, over and over again. What you have sought in all of your adventures is the recognition that you are the one you seek. You are that one that has lived as every master that has ever been born into this world. You are the power and the being of Life eternal.

Embrace The Only Reality You Have Ever Known or Could Ever Know!

If you would transform your life, and indeed transform the whole of your world, and if you would know and perceive and experience radiant joy, it is this you must come to understand and recognize:

That never in Truth have you ever been separate from the Father. Never have you in Truth been separate from what you have learned to call the Son of God.

There are many who have begun to feel the awakening into this divine remembrance. And it comes as a thief in the night, stealing the cobwebs of shadows, revealing naught but a splendor unlimited and a Truth sublime. And then does not the mind habituated to its belief in shadow again rise forth and demand of you not to believe what you have felt and known, but to believe what the world has taught you is truth? But I say this unto you: darkness cannot comprehend Light. But Light can transform all darkness when you, the Holy Son of the Father, choose without reservation and beyond all fear to embrace the only Reality you have ever known or could ever know.

For though all worlds rise and pass away, forever do you remain. You have journeyed forth under the veil of the thought of separation and you have created and tasted every happiness, every success, every pain and every failure that the mind can imagine. And because you have continued to believe yourself to be other than what you are, you have continued to proliferate world upon world that does nothing but repeat what you have already known.

So then it is not Love that keeps the world spinning but ignorance of Love. For where Love is reawakened the soul rests in and as silence. It feels at home wherever the body might be found. For already does it know that Love is the substance of all things. Not to be seen with physical eyes but to be seen with the eyes of the Awakened Heart. It is Love and Love alone that can heal your pain. It is Love and Love alone that can transform your world. And this is the great blessing:

It is Love and Love alone that you are!

Embrace Boldly and With The Whole Of Your Being This Grand Truth:
“I Am The Only Begotten Of The Holy Father!”

Now there is a great and simple Truth contained in that sacred book which you would call your Bible. And luckily it is one Truth that mankind has never thought to change. And that simple Truth comes but in three words, "God is Love." And if you be the Son united eternally with all that the Father is, and I say unto you that indeed you are, then can you in Truth be other than Love?

Now, it is quite a simple thing to be what you are. But it takes great difficulty and the expenditure of great energy to be what you are not. And all of you have tasted the fatigue and the frustration and the emptiness and the pain of insisting on pretending that you are other than who you are. All of your troubles have been born from your insistence that "surely I am not the Son of God. I am most unworthy. Look at all the bad things that I have done and thought and said. Does this not prove that I am other than the Son of God? Jeshua, He must be the Son of God. They tell me that He lived a perfect life." Please do not believe it.

There is only one that is perfect, even our blessed Father. And when you have begun to awaken to the Truth that you are indeed worthy because the Grace of that perfect gift of the union of the Son with the Father is already given to you before you take a single breath – it is already prior to all thoughts born from the soil of the belief in separation – you are indeed worthy to embrace boldly and with the whole of your being this grand Truth:

I am the only begotten of the Holy Father.

How Much Easier Can It Get?

Now many of what you know as your scientists, who would seek with the mind to dissect the whole of creation, thinking that by doing so they might find the secret to its being, have marveled at what you would know as the "big bang." Which is said to be the birth of this physical universe. And in a manner, they are quite accurate. But I would say this unto you: that bang is like a whisper compared to what you can bring forth upon this world when you choose to embrace wholly the power of Love you are.

So, then, does it not seem a simple thing? "Hmm, in this moment shall I embrace illusion so that I can know suffering and lack or shall I embrace Reality?"

Now that can seem a most fearful thing because when you embrace Reality you must release the illusions that you have wedded yourself unto and they shall be no more. And when you embrace Reality you no longer have the false luxury of pretending that you are incapable of all things. You will no longer have the luxury of saying, "Well, I'm just a victim. The world is just the way it is and here I am and what can I do about it?" A most clever thought behind which to hide.

"I must set about to secure my survival because if I do not, who will?" Already does the Father extend unto you the infinite and unlimited abundance which is His table.

"But I cannot embrace Reality. After all, I have all of these details to take care of. And if I do not take care of them, who will?" Release them, and your Father will take care of them.

You have grown so accustomed to struggle, to efforting, to planning and seeking. Is it not time to embrace finding? You have been taught that you must become as I am. Is it not time to embrace being all that I am? And this is not a great thing, for have I not said unto you:

Of myself I do nothing, but the Father does all things?

So, how much easier can it get?

Are You Willing To Give Back To The Father?

The Kingdom is diametrically opposed to all that you know to be your world. For your world has taught you to believe in effort. And in the Kingdom there is simply receiving and extending abundance. The world has taught you that you must diligently make your plans but in the Kingdom the awakened Son of God abides in divine stillness, empty of all desire, and His Father works through Him. For is it not written, "Be still and know I am God"?

Are you willing to rest the body, to give up your plans and fears and to abide in stillness, and then learn to be within and as that stillness in all activities? Are you willing to give up every belief you hold about what life is, about who you are and about what must be done? Can you come to the point of recognizing that all of the ideas you have held have been false?

Are you willing, indeed, to live in faith to become as an empty glass, to die that one and only true death – the death of the thought of separation? Are you willing to give the world and all of your thoughts and all of your fears back to the Father? Can you release the whole of what you have believed to be you and to care for it no longer? Are you willing to give up needing to receive anything from anyone? Are you willing to surrender your parents, your children? Are you willing and ready to again embrace the presence of the Kingdom born within you?

For I say this unto you: what you release can only be those thoughts that have limited you from divine remembrance. And for all that you would release, the Father will fill you seven-fold. And then you will know your Father's Will for you!

Your Life Will Be Transformed and You Will See It With New Eyes!

You would be most surprised to discover that in running about seeking your Father's Will for you, that it has been around you the whole time. For all that you will release you will find continuing within your life but it will have been transformed and you will see it with new eyes. And you will see the mate not as the mate, you will see the child not as the child, you will see the parent not as the parent, you will see the job not as a job, you will see the body not as the body, but you will behold in perfect clarity the blessings extended to you of the Father, that through you, right where you are, the Kingdom shall be born. Light of light and Truth of Truths, you cannot enter the Kingdom until you are willing to embrace and release all that you have known and to give all things back to your Holy Father, Who alone knows the purpose of all things.

Now, when I walked upon this your beloved earth, I did not make plans as you would know these, but I practiced what I preached unto you: seek first the Kingdom of Heaven and all these things shall be added unto you. Often in the middle of the direction upon which I walked, I abruptly turned and went elsewhere because my Father asked that I do so.

And when you have learned to live as the Awakened and only Son of God, you will be as the wind. You will not know from where it comes or to where it goes, but you will live as that Spirit. And though you build a castle today, if your Father asks you, you would tear it down tomorrow. And you will know naught but divine joy and the great lightness that comes with true simplicity of, in Truth, owning nothing and, therefore, fearing not the loss of all things.

For what in Truth could be taken from you when you already hold the whole of creation within you? And though the body that many of you yet insist on claiming to be your own, though it should pass away and again become as dust, you will have not moved an inch. For even the whole of motion, space and time are contained within you.

There is not one among you who could not sit in silent prayer. And in Truth, prayer becomes prayer in silence. There is not one among you who could not enter into this most Holy and sacred of experiences and experience and know every detail of a life you have ascribed to me. Now, all of you know of the truth of which I speak, for everyone has known those experiences in which you are aware of what another is about to say, aware even when that contraption you call as your phone that would signal you that another is thinking of you and another has called unto you. Many of you have known even before it rings who it is that calls you. And this is but a faint echo of what in Truth is transpiring for you at all times.

You Will Become Everything!

Now, you are likened unto one that has chosen to play at placing blinders upon your physical eyes and enjoying the simple game of walking about without seeing what is to your sides. And yet you have come to believe in the illusion you have created: that all you know is what is in front of you. All you know are your thoughts. But I say this unto you: what you have known and thought and seen with your physical eyes can be likened unto the breadth of a single hair thrust into the vastness of space. But in Truth what you know encompasses the whole of space, which by the way, is quite infinite. Therefore, behold that there are no boundaries to what you know.

Now, it is a simple thing to release the blinders that you have grown accustomed to wearing. But it takes first your willingness to take your hands to your Heart and to throw open the shutters that have been placed there. And to speak unto your Father, "No more will I be a seeker; no more will I be a denier. I am one who embraces. I am one who chooses in this moment to be a finder."

As I have spoken this unto you, many among you have felt a contraction within the body and a fear. And it comes from your insistence that what you cling to so tightly must be reality.

"All that Jeshua is saying unto me, it sounds good. But, it frightens me a little so I'll continue to hold on to what I choose to call reality. For what would happen if I were to release it? What would become of me?"... Everything! You would become everything!

Now, everyone has known the experience of drifting into what you call sleep and to dream dreams that have been filled with what you world would call all manner of abominations. And you know well of what I speak. All of you as children have beaten your parents within your dreams. All of you have made love with your neighbor's husbands and wives. All of you have stolen great wealth and hoarded for yourselves. All of you have been great leaders. All of you have known what it means to experience within your dreams the adulation of the bowing masses. And when you awaken, when you have dared to remember what you have dreamt, have you not just simply seen, "Oh, that was a dream," and released it and gone about the living of your life?

You Will See With the Eyes of the Heart the Keys to the Kingdom!

All that the Father has asked me to do is to come forth again to speak unto you this simple truth: what you have believed to be yourself is to be released, even as you have learned to release the dreams you have dreamt. For it is a great truth that what you have believed to be yourself is your most masterful dream and quite a creation it has been.

You have been likened unto a man who chose to set about on a long journey and because he began that journey believing that he was only one individual, somehow mysteriously housed within one frail body, vulnerable to the forces of nature and to the evil thoughts that most surely must lurk in the minds of everyone he would meet.

You have clenched your jewels and your golden coins tightly within your fists, for surely you must need these things if you are to survive your journey. You have set out upon your journey and you have become entranced, frightened, overjoyed by all of the landscapes you have seen, enthralled by the personalities that have come across your path.

And yet you have known a deep hunger and a deep lack because you have clenched so tightly your fist around your golden coins and your precious jewels that you no longer remembered they were there. And believing they were not there, you have tasted of poverty, you have worked your proverbial fingers to the bones, you have accumulated what you know in this time as stress within the organs of the body until you have murdered it over and over again, all because you forgot that within your hands lay certain most precious jewels.

Now, they were very small, smaller than a mustard seed, and you embraced them there within the jewels and gold coins of your beliefs and your mistaken perceptions and your insistence on separation. And the whole while you have already held the keys to the Kingdom. But because you learned to believe that you must perceive what is real with your physical eyes and be able to touch it with your physical body, that those most precious jewels, even the keys to the Kingdom that you have contained within your hands, you have not seen them. And you will not see them until you are willing to open your hand and to release the constriction in the Heart that would bind you to your worlds of illusion.

And I say this unto you: when you have released all that you have believed yourself to be, and have chosen to abide in divine stillness, miracle of miracles, you will see with the eyes of the Heart the keys to the Kingdom, smaller than a grain of mustard seed, and yet within them is all power. You will look and recognize that what you hold in your hand is your own Self and you will behold the only begotten Son of God.

Who Will Transform Your World?

What is Love but the presence of the Father in all things? What is Love but the very power of your breath? What is Love but the thought of Love extended into the mind of mankind? And who would be the messenger and the bearer of Love but the arisen Christ within you? And what word would you speak unto another in every moment of your days? Would you speak the word of Love or of judgment? For Love and judgment cannot abide in the same place in the same moment. So you are either within the Kingdom or you are outside of it. And yet no one has placed you there but yourself.

What thought would you think? What would you see become of your world? Would you see tomorrow -- the same old thing? Would you go through your tomorrow lamenting the state of your world and wishing somebody would do something about it? Or would you be so bold and so arrogant and so right to arise tomorrow and to speak as the arisen Christ:

"I commit myself to the healing of the world. I give myself to the work the Father would bring forth upon this the body of my Holy Mother and I will work without ceasing and with a glad Heart to extend the only Gospel that has ever been, into every mind that yet believes in the illusion of separation."

It is you and you alone who will transform your world. For you have made it to be what it is.

For, beloved brothers and sisters, when you choose to change what you do, what you think and what you feel, and to uplift it and return it to the Father, in Truth do you uplift the whole of your world. What world would you awaken to tomorrow? Who will you see in your mirror? What thought would enter into your mind?

Look well to what you feel in this moment and what thought enters the mind. Look well and with great clarity and know that you can look and see what you feel and what thoughts are coming. But surely you are not what you feel and what you think. For to do so you must already abide in that eternal presence in which the Son is one with the Father and already knows all Truth, all wisdom and all joy. What choice are you making in this moment?

You Will Be Overwhelmed By The Truth and Reality Of That Unconditional Love!

Beloved and holy child of God, know always that what I share with you is given me of our Father to extend unto you with nothing less than unconditional Love. Many of you cannot yet know just how deeply I Love you. But you will. For when you have chosen to release the last vestige of the habit of mind with which you have identified, you will be overwhelmed by the Truth and Reality of that unconditional Love that has surrounded you, enveloped you, sustained you, created you and kept you safe since before time is. And you will feel it full force, and it is that Light and that Love that will vanquish all shadows, and then you will know how much I have Loved you.

Holy and precious brothers and sisters, I long for nothing less than that one moment in which you choose to abide where I am, and to join with me in declaring this most simple of Truths:

"I and my Father are ONE. And I will go out no more from my Father's perfect place. And all that I would do from this moment, I do because the Father does it through me. I cling not to the fruit of my action, but I return all things unto the Father, Who alone knows how creation is to be brought back unto Him."

In Truth, my Love is eternally extended unto you because It lies within you. And my blessings I would shower upon you, if you would but open your Heart and receive me. For, in Truth, to receive me is to know me and to know me is to have embraced your Self. And to have embraced your Self is to have returned to that most sacred of unions, even that of the Father and the Son who are eternally One.
